Think of your trade show booth as an extension of your company office or retail space. In many ways, a portable display is exactly that—a reflection of your brand and company vision. Just like a mini-version of your office or company, it's a good idea to make sure you have all the component - big and small - to make a great first impression on potential customers or business partners. When the big day finally arrives, here's a packing list to make sure you're fully prepared and organized for your next trade show or convention:

Checklist for Booth Set-Up: You might need different supplies and components for set-up, depending on which portable display you choose, but here's a list of common items to help get you started: Lights, Extra Light Bulbs, Extension Cords, Surge Protector, TV Monitor and Remote, Extra Batteries, Duct Tape.

Checklist for Daily Operations: A portable display booth can be your office on the showroom floor, so make sure to bring everything you would need to smoothly run your business. Items include: Calculator, Price List, Business Cards, Notebook, Pencils/Pens, Event Calendar, First Aid Kit, Hand Sanitizer, Cleaner, Paper Towels, Hand-Held Steamer, Clear Tape, Whiteout, Post-it Notes, Paper Clips, Gift Bags, Scissors.

The atmosphere at most trade shows or conventions are busy and chaotic, so having your portable display looking sharp and put together is vital when considering all the things you need at your disposal. Many elements are important in having a successful trade show, but when preparedness meets opportunity (like with these checklists), you're already halfway to success!
